

QUESTIONING GREATER YELLOWSTONE'S FUTURE
Climate, Land Use, and Invasive Species

The 10th Biennial Scientific Conference on the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem

Conference Proceedings

Instructions for Authors

The Program Committee encourages all presenters to submit their papers for publication in the proceedings of the Questioning Greater Yellowstone's Future: Climate, Land Use, and Invasive Species conference. All papers meeting the criteria below will be considered for inclusion as long as they meet general quality standards.

GENERAL INFORMATION

- Manuscripts will be edited for clarity, grammar, and consistency.
- The proceedings will not be peer-reviewed.
- It is important to follow the guidelines—doing so enables the editor to copy-edit and format the proceedings quickly and efficiently. Papers that do not follow the guidelines are subject to return or rejection.
- Please include complete contact information for yourself and each co-author (full name, affiliation, mailing address, phone number, and email address).
- Authors will have an opportunity to proof their galleys prior to publication.

DEADLINE

- All papers and accompanying materials must be submitted in final format by November 24, 2010. Late submissions will not be considered unless prior arrangements are made. Send materials to:

LENGTH

There are no length restrictions for papers, although extremely long papers may have to be edited if space constraints become an issue. Please submit the full paper, not the abstract or an extended abstract.

FORMAT and STYLE

- Please submit your manuscript in hard copy (single-spaced, double-spaced between paragraphs) and on an accompanying CD (in addition, you may email an electronic copy to yell_conference@nps.gov).
- Editing and typesetting proceed entirely from the electronic version; the hard copy is held as a backup in case electronic conversion fails. Therefore, do not pencil in last-minute changes on the manuscript without also changing the disk version.
- Give the full name, mailing address, phone number, and email address of each author.
- Do not use agency abbreviations or jargon in your paper; others may not understand the lingo typically used in your field or agency. Briefly explain any potentially unclear references to internal agency workings, documents, etc.

CITATIONS and REFERENCES

- Use a bare minimum of formatting. We re-format all papers, so do not use tabs, hyphenation, cover sheets, page numbering, fancy typefaces, justification, etc.
- Single-space your paper, start each new paragraph flush left, and double-space between paragraphs. Please remember to run your spell-checker before you submit!
- Use the author-date system for citations (following the format laid out in The Chicago Manual of Style, http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools\_citationguide.html [T and R]), not footnotes or endnotes. Any material you would normally be tempted to include in a discursive footnote should either be worked into the main text or else omitted.

Here is the format to use:

- Citations within the text: (Wright 1990)—no comma in between author and date. Multiple citations are separated by semicolons and placed in chronological order: (Martin et al. 1984; Jackson, Lytle, and Coffman 1988; Wright 1990; Carlton and Schurz 1997). If you cite page numbers: (Martin et al. 1984, 27; Jackson, Lytle, and Coffman 1988, i–ix; Wright 1990, 3–8; Carlton and Schurz 1997, 111–129). Do not italicize “et al.”
- References to a published article (do not abbreviate the journal title): Lauster, Paul L., and Michelle G. Storey. 1990. The title of the article: and the subtitle, if any. The George Wright Forum 11(4): 1–10.
- References to an unpublished or internal report (instead of a publisher at the end of the citation, give a location where the report is on file and the name of the agency or group responsible for the report): Riefendal, Y.D. 1990. Live-capture of elk in Yellowstone National Park: report of activity, 1989. Yellowstone Research & Resource Management Report 90-266. Yellowstone National Park, WY.: National Park Service.
- References to an article within an edited book or proceedings: Saarinen, C.M. 1985. Techniques for maintaining historic masonry in Tidewater, Virginia. Pages 353–360 in J.T. Wiley and C. Marks-Dyer, eds., Preserving the past: proceedings of the 36th symposium on eastern archaeology and historic preservation. Richmond: Society for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities.
- References to a book should be like this: Szymanowski, E.I., R. Lovitz, M.J.T. Marks, and L.O. St. Jean. 1973. The title of the book: and the subtitle, if any. 3rd ed. New York: Oxford University Press.
- Use full name for first name and middle initial of authors and editors. Use italics for book and journal titles. Note that unpublished and internal report titles, however lengthy, are not italicized.

TABLES, GRAPHICS, and PHOTOS

- Submit both hard copy and electronic files for all tables, graphics (e.g., graphs, screenshots), photos, and slides. Tables will be re-formatted by the editor into the proceedings typeface and format, if possible. If not, they will be scanned and then placed electronically, as will all graphics and photos. All captions should be listed separately at the end of your manuscript text file, clearly identifying which illustration they accompany.
- Hard copies
  - Each table, graphic, or photo must be provided on a separate sheet, clearly captioned. Captions may be put on a separate sheet if you prefer, as long as it is clear which graphic they belong to. Additionally, as noted above, all captions should be listed at the end of your manuscript text file.
  - All illustrations must be submitted in camera-ready format. This means they must be originals, not photocopies.

- Photos and slides will be returned upon request.
- Make sure printing and line art is clear and clean. Avoid very small typefaces.
- Electronic copies
  - Submit each table, graphic, or photo as a separate file. Do NOT simply paste your graphics into a Word file; they are unusable that way.
  - For charts or tables originating in Excel, send the original Excel file.
  - For graphics created in ArcMap, PowerPoint, or other applications, export or save your file as an Adobe Illustrator .eps file. If this is not possible, use PDF, TIFF, or JPG format with a 300 dpi resolution at actual size. No other format is acceptable (i.e., no GIFs).
  - For photos, use JPG, TIFF, or EPS format with a 300 dpi resolution at actual size. No other format is acceptable (i.e., no GIFs).
- The final printed size of most graphics will be approximately 4.25 inches wide or 4.25 inches high, depending on orientation. If you submit hard-copy larger than that, we will have to scale it down electronically after scanning—and the results are often less than satisfactory because of loss of detail. Therefore, it is much better if you use your software to scale the graphic down to 4.25 inches (wide or high) and then submit electronically or print a camera-ready copy to submit.
- If you must scale down your graphics as above, then avoid shading of any kind—it becomes muddy when reduced.
